

ABSTRACT

A system for merchants to electronically process statistically-analyzed checks and receive payment on the same electronically from a third-party service provider while the image of the check writer's check is stored electronically and the payment itself is presented through the normal check-processing system.

5227925_1.DOC

5227925_1.DOC